Do good, be rich in good deeds, be generous and willing to share... so you may take hold of life that is truly life.

- 1 Timothy 6:18-19

You're invited to a Journey of Generosity!

Two ways to join a Journey of Generosity

Online

We've adapted the Journey of Generosity retreat into a one-day online experience that you can join from the comfort of your home. You can find an upcoming Online Journey of Generosity by viewing our schedule on our website.

In-person

To attend an in-person Journey of Generosity, you have to be invited by someone hosting one. If you have questions about your Journey of Generosity, reach out to your host. If you're looking for more information about a Journey of Generosity, visit our website.

Visit generousgiving.org/events/jog to take the next step.

What does a conversation about the topic of generosity look like?

con • ver • sa • tion

noun: conversation;
plural noun: conversations; the informal exchange of ideas by spoken words

Most conversations about giving end with an ask for money. We host free events that help explore Jesus-like generosity without asking for anything in return. This leads to stronger families, renewed marriages, and a deeper relationships with God.

"Our facilitators did a great job of helping us to understand we are all on a journey and what we said to the group would stay with the group."

– Dave and Betsy

"There were zero strings attached, there was no pressure."

– Paul

What happens at a JOURNEY OF GENEROSITY?

We know you meet with advisors, read books, and peruse articles about the topic of money, but have you ever considered how money is shaping your heart? What if you could spend some time reflecting on the ways your financial life affects your most important relationships? Have you ever considered how generosity connects us to the heart of a generous God?

“Next to the day of our salvation, that 22-hour experience at the JOG was the single greatest change to our understanding of our relationship with Christ and what that means for the rest of our lives. It has caused us to completely rethink everything about how we were defining success, what we were aiming at, and how we were thinking about things as a family.”

– Kevin

But just as you excel in everything, see that you also excel in the grace of giving.

– 2 Corinthians 8:7

I'm already generous,
why should I invest the time?

gen • er • ous

adjective: generous

(of a person) showing a readiness to give more of something, as money or time, than is strictly necessary or expected.

synonyms: lavish, giving, openhanded, free-handed, bountiful, unselfish, free.

A Journey of Generosity is a small group retreat that focuses on the joy of living generously. It includes stories of generous givers, interactive discussions, reflection opportunities and bible study that enable participants to process the biblical message of generosity. It is story driven and experiential in nature.

What I really found different about the experience is that no one gave me a solution or prescription—they just allowed me to begin to wrestle with and recognize that this journey I was on was about me drawing closer to God.

– Brad

Who should attend?

Anyone who has experienced that it is more blessed to give than to receive. If you've been invited to a Journey of Generosity, someone already believes you are generous and knows the joy you'll find as you further explore this life giving message with friends.

Is there a hidden agenda?

Many people who want to talk to you about money want something from you. Generous Giving is privately funded, so you'll never be asked for money at our events.

Here is our agenda. We want to give you the gift of conversation. We want your heart to be captured by Jesus and generosity and to create a place to figure out what that means for your journey. We don't want something from you, we want something for you.
