

JOG Invitations by Month

CREATIVE WAYS TO BRING PEOPLE INTO THE EXPERIENCE

July

- A well-planned getaway with friends can turn into something surprisingly rich. Think summer evenings, a picnic, a lake breeze—and space to talk about things that matter most.
- Consider gathering your team for a day that invests in who they are, not just what they do.
- Two long evenings, great company, and honest conversation—this could be the highlight of someone's summer.

August

- After vacations wrap up, people often crave reconnection—this is a perfect time to gather.
- Mix it up: a ball game and good conversation, or a casual dinner that opens the door to something deeper.
- Know a ministry team gearing up for fall? Host something refreshing to fill their tank.

September

MOST POPULAR MONTH IN THE THIRD QUARTER TO HOST A JOG

- As routines reset, create space to reflect on purpose and priorities with your people.
- A new school year often sparks fresh intention—why not align hearts as well?
- Many churches are launching new rhythms—this could be a thoughtful addition to the season.
